

PRINCESS DIANA
1 JULY 1961
07 45 00 PM
SANDRINGHAM, UK

Thank you for ordering this report. I hope that it will put you on the right path to a fulfilling and rewarding career.

Only you can offer what you do and you need to ensure that you find the opportunity in your career life to best express your creative self.

So where does creativity come into it? We are all capable of creative expression, in whatever form that creativity takes. You could be capable of creating innovative ideas, inspired communication - whether it be writing, speaking, teaching or relating to others. You could be a master at bringing practical form to ideas or the intangible. Creativity of course also takes the more physical forms of sculpting, drawing, music, singing, painting, sport or dancing.

It might take some courage to make the necessary changes; perhaps you need to re-skill or overcome obstacles that are currently standing in your way. What ever it takes, I hope that the information contained in this report will assist you in choosing a direction that will provide you with years of fulfilment and stimulation.

HOW TO USE THIS REPORT

The information presented in this report is designed to give you as many options as possible.

A satisfying and fulfilling career is not based purely on the actual work you do. You have different needs that have to be fulfilled, and many interests that need to be stimulated. Therefore it is important that you become familiar with all the information in this guide to gain the most benefit. Make sure to read all the information in blue as this will explain how each piece of information fits into the greater picture.

This report is offered as a guide only. Only you can make decisions for yourself based on your current situation, needs and circumstances. Maybe your choice of career or career/job change will be a simple one to implement but perhaps due to your personal circumstances you will need to make interim and long-term plans of how to reach your career goals. Please seek the advice of a professional Life Coach should you feel that you need more assistance with the planning and implementing of any major changes.

The report is divided into 2 separate sections:

PERSONALITY AND DISPOSITION

The first section covers your unique personality and disposition. Your personal needs have to be fulfilled by any work that you may do and your attributes valued in order for you to feel that you are making a contribution that makes use of your personal strengths and self expression and that gives you a sense of security, satisfaction and fulfilment on an inner level.

OVERVIEW OF CAREER, WORKING ENVIRONMENT AND EARNING CAPACITY

This broad overview will narrow down your areas of interest, look at what your daily work environment might be like and highlight the areas of your own earning potential. And to add a little balance to your life, see what you could do 'just for the love of it'.

Make special note of any recurring themes that appear throughout this report, they will be a very strong indicator of the direction you need to follow or of personal traits you need to be especially aware of.

Conflicting information will be contained in this report reflecting the complexity of human nature. For example, you might be described as helpful and selfless in one section and self involved and selfish in another, both of these will be relevant but they will each be triggered under different circumstances. Also, each might be best used to your advantage at different times.

PERSONALITY AND DISPOSITION

Manner of self expression, interests and ideals

Inner fulfilment needs

Approach to work and how others perceive you

- Supplementary Info

This first section looks at what interests and motivates you, in order to know immediately what work or job will suit your personality and needs best. While you might have suitable skills for a particular job or career area, if the work or work environment doesn't suit you, you will never be satisfied with what you are doing.

How others perceive you is also important to assess whether your skills and talents will be apparent or if you will need to make a special point of promoting them. Knowing all this will give you an advantage when making the important choice of what career to work within.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO BE ABLE TO DO AT WORK AND WHAT DO YOU NEED BACK?

You will really prosper and shine doing any work that involves relationships – building them, nurturing them, restoring them, managing them; PR, sales, networking, arbitrating, mediating, advocacy, matchmaking, diplomacy, socialising, dealing with the public. All associations and the interactions between people in general. Alternatively your work could involve the relationship between people and their environments by creating or enhancing optimal living or working spaces. Most importantly though, you need to be recognised for your warm and natural talent with people.

You put heart and soul into what you do and take everything about work to heart. You will therefore be more affected than most by the inevitable twists and turns and changes that will take place. You'll do best if your work environment is as secure as possible, you avoid risky ventures and you have supportive colleagues. Or perhaps you'll be the one doing the supporting, nurturing and 'looking after'.

Working within partnerships and in one-on-one situations is where you thrive.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR EMOTIONAL COMFORT AND INNER SECURITY?

You need to earn well and build a strong financial base for yourself. Your financial security plays a lot on your mind but you seem to swing from being extremely careful with your finances to being completely 'devil-may-care'. You want to be worth something, but you do like your little luxuries and comforts, not to mention being seen as having valuable and lovely things. You like to be seen as being generous too. However, in order to feel emotionally secure you need to be financially secure. The two will always go hand in hand for you.

An informal and flexible environment will work best for you, along with a whole lot of freedom and lots of people to connect with who share the same interests as you do. You particularly enjoy feeling like part of a group with a common cause, preferably a cause with a humanitarian basis. 9-5 routines won't work for you. You are not interested in climbing the corporate ladder, paying homage to a pecking order or conforming in anyway.

Your work environment needs to be truly democratic, you need equality.

Areas to be aware of:

- You can sometimes be brutally honest in order to shock people out of their complacency. Sometimes this will work out well and sometimes definitely not!

AND HOW DO OTHERS PERCEIVE YOU?

Irrepressible! Outspoken, friendly and extroverted with a laugh that is never far away, you are seen to be optimistic, direct, honest, motivating and very stimulating to be around. A very likeable image to portray in interview, presentation or sales situations - just make sure that your humour and outspokenness is appropriate for your audience.

You come across as spontaneous and adventurous and game for anything new or different. Others see you as the teacher, the traveller, the wise one.

You are likely to live in a foreign country, be of foreign decent or be seen as being foreign. Perhaps you are a 'citizen of the world' – belonging everywhere or you could be known internationally.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFO modifying how others perceive you or the approach you have to life
Stimulating and individualistic, things are never done in the normal old way around you.

OVERVIEW OF CAREER, WORKING ENVIRONMENT AND EARNING POTENTIAL

Career and career field

- Fields connected to career
- Supplementary Info

Daily work environment

Earning potential

- Fields connected with earning

Just for the love of it

- Supplementary info

General information pertaining to overall career

WHAT CAREER AND WHAT ELEMENTS OF A CAREER WILL ATTRACT YOU?

In order to feel a true sense of pleasure and satisfaction in your career, it is essential that the work you do stimulates some very specific interests and fulfils some specific requirements. This is what is sometimes referred to as your life mission or purpose. Keep in mind that what you need to do in order to feel fulfilled might not always be suitable to support yourself or a family. If this is the case, the section on earning potential will point to alternate earning routes or sources.

You will be attracted to and stimulated by work that falls under negotiation, advising, counselling, council, advocacy, guidance, arbitration, fighting for justice, representation, persuasion, diplomacy or social engineering.

You are sociable and charming and able to talk to anyone. It is important to you to be friendly at all times, but if you are not acting from the heart, you will seem insincere to others who will mistrust your motivations and withdraw their support, something that you need.

Alternatively you could be attracted to any work that literally 'makes nice' like beauty, decorating or fashion.

Now read through 'Fields connected to career' and combine the most appealing from this career section with the specific areas listed. Be sure to take information from the section 'Personality and disposition' into account when considering these fields.

BEST FIELDS FOR YOUR CAREER

It is not intended that all of these fields will interest you, but one or two will. Or your interest might be piqued by something you hadn't thought of before.

Any of:

- Work to do with children and youth (including schoolmasters and teaching, educational institutions and facilities)

- Places of leisure, recreation and entertainment – owners, managers and workers – retreats, holiday resorts, casino's, cinemas, theatres, the stage, funfairs, parks, spectator sports & arenas, stadiums, circuses, nightclubs, motion pictures and the making thereof, show business, concert halls, horse racing, golf courses
- Performers and agents
- Sporting or athletic activities
- Athletes, sports events, clubs and associations
- Promotion
- Social events and functions, parties and party supplies
- Art, painting and creativity, hobbies and equipment supplies
- Speculation
- Entrepreneurial endeavours
- Any work to do with pregnancy, childbirth

Please note that while a particular field may be suggested, for example entertainment, this does not necessarily mean you should be an entertainer as such, but rather that you will enjoy working within that industry.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFO modifying your approach to the career arena

Highly individualistic, you are unlikely to enjoy anything smacking of dull, routine or ordinary for too long. You enjoy change, the different, the alternative, ground breaking, inventive and innovative. When change doesn't happen naturally, you are likely to do something to somehow facilitate change, even provoking total upheaval whether you are aware of it or not.

While being friendly and likeable, your need to keep the peace unfortunately makes you avoid any sort of conflict, thereby putting a firm lid on personal and creative expression.

Your calm and relaxed demeanour makes you good in emotionally tense situations. You are great at supporting colleagues and associates. While you enjoy variety and change, you are patient enough to wait for the right opportunity to come your way or perhaps the right timing.

Feelings of 'not being good enough' can make you work harder and achieve more than others might.

YOUR WORK ENVIRONMENT

Your working day needs to be BUSY. Never a dull moment - lots of coming and going, lots of talking to, and connecting with different people; juggling activities and projects - variety until it's coming out of your ears!

MONEY AND HOW BEST TO EARN IT

These are the skills you have that will assist you in acquiring income.

You are ambitious and determined and once you have set your sights on a particular goal, your skill comes to light. You have the ability to carefully strategise and systematically work your way towards that goal, working the 'system', connecting with the right people and gliding through bureaucratic red tap with such finesse that it could be called art.

Watch that you don't allow fear to stop you from actually taking the first step. Being too careful can ensure that you never do anything. With your determination you are sure to achieve whatever you want.

The fields listed below are specific areas where you could earn. Remember to take all the information from this report into account when considering these fields.

BEST FIELDS FOR EARNING

It is not intended that all of these fields will interest you, but one or two will. Or your interest might be piqued by something you hadn't thought of before.

Any of:

- Position of leadership and initiation
- Playing the central role
- Self managed and independent positions
- Starting new ventures
- Running your own business
- Risk taking and occupations considered dangerous
- Fronting work – such as receptionist, doorman etc
- Body work – massage, physiotherapy, gym instruction etc
- Work dealing with / products or services aimed at the masses/common people
- Work to do with handwriting analysis
- Barbers
- Butchery
- Manufacturing of armaments
- Working within the iron/steel industry

Please note that while a particular field may be suggested, for example entertainment, this does not necessarily mean you should be an entertainer as such, but rather that you will enjoy working within that industry.

'JUST FOR THE LOVE OF IT'

To find what it is that brings you absolute delight and what you thoroughly enjoy doing, combine any of the elements in the following two descriptions. The results should not come as a surprise to you but should induce you to ensure that you include more of those activities in your life to increase your overall balance and enjoyment of life. And if you are lucky, it could be an area where you could earn an income doing it.

Creativity, the limelight, entertainment, play, recreation, sport, entrepreneurial endeavours, power, creating a spectacle, acting.

combined with any of:

- Working with the assets of others' – money, corporate money, stock-broking, banking, life insurance, investing, tax, recycling of resources, credit manager; finances related to divorce and separation
- Law - corporate/banking law, tax law, life insurance, estate law, matters concerning the assets of the deceased or dying, coroner
- Medical – surgery, paramedics, emergency room work, pathology, psychology/psychiatry, hypnotism
- Science – forensic, chemistry or physics
- Vocational counsellor
- Crisis control
- Criminology
- Bounty hunter, bill collector
- Research, analysis, investigation
- Private investigation, security services
- Mortician, working at a funeral parlour, any work to do with the deceased
- Archaeology, excavator
- Work involving the occult
- Waste management
- Genetics, bacteriology, epidemiologist

It is not intended that all of these fields will interest you, but one or two will. Or your interest might be piqued by something you hadn't thought of before.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFO

Nothing to note

GENERAL INFORMATION pertaining to your career

You are charming and inspiring to be around but can tend to get lost in your own dream world at times. You pick up underlying vibes very easily. You could have artistic talent or ability in the mystical or occult arena. You might have to learn how to say 'no' sometimes.

Commanding and persuasive, you should always get support for your ideas and motions. However, a lack of contradiction from others could lead you to be rigid in your ideas and opinions. Regardless of how well you do or how much you achieve, you will always be pushing yourself to do better and more. You seem to have access to a bottomless well of 'life force' giving you an abundant supply of energy and allowing you to recuperate from illness quickly.

You are great at sharing your thoughts on a wide range of topics but might not always be quite so good at listening to other points of view.

For your own sense of security, your lesson in life is to learn personal acceptance and liking. Otherwise the tension created by your overwhelming need to be liked will cause you to be too passive or overindulgent in food, drink or drugs.

Being contrary and challenging just for the sake of it can be limiting on your career and personal interactions. Make sure your job has you constantly on the move or you won't stay very long.

Feelings of insecurity can make you act impulsively. Try to take some time out when emotions are running high and make sure you have regular physical activity to let off steam. You could have problems with domination when dealing with colleagues of the opposite sex.

You articulate what you are thinking and feeling exceptionally well.

You have a razor sharp mind combined with excellent communication skills. You are very good with your hands and could have mathematical ability.

You need to plan carefully so that sufficient effort is dedicated to setting and monitoring goals as well as ensuring that the details are attended to. You experience a great deal of stress going from one extreme to the other when there is no balance.

Highly persuasive, you have ability to change perceptions through your communications, teaching or perhaps advertising. You have a flair for research, analysis and investigation and probably a good understanding of the motivations of those around you because of it.

An imaginative and creative mind. You also have empathy that could be used to help others perhaps even in the metaphysical or mystical arena.

A need for personal connection with others makes you encourage more conventional relationships, when the unconventional (while not easy) would stimulate you more. A constant pull between the need for warmth and connection vs. freedom and individuality makes you appear to blow hot and cold towards people.

Success in your career could come later in life perhaps through association with people older than you.

You tend to feel uncomfortable with asserting yourself, feeling that you either come on too strongly (using a cannon to crack open the walnut) or that you get completely taken advantage of because you aren't assertive enough.

Your excellent common sense will always put you on the right path to reach your goals.

You must win at any cost and will give it your all. Make sure you have a healthy outlet for some pretty explosive excess energy.

You want it, you want it now and you want all of it. Take care how you treat others along the way. You come across far more intensely and forcefully than you may imagine.

You'd far rather retreat into a warm daydream than accept the harsh truth about reality at times. You don't tend to see others as they really are

An independent and unconventional spirit, you must have the freedom to investigate the new and unusual, to develop your own opinions and ideas and to freely express them. You have a great need for adventure and new knowledge.

You drive yourself incredibly hard to ensure the successful achievement of your goals.

I wish you well on your path.