

love yourjob.uk.com

TONY BLAIR
6 MAY 1953
6-10 AM
EDINBURGH, SCOTLAND

Thank you for ordering this report. I hope that it will put you on the right path to a fulfilling and rewarding career.

Only you can offer what you do and you need to ensure that you find the opportunity in your career life to best express your creative self.

So where does creativity come into it? We are all capable of creative expression, in whatever form that creativity takes. You could be capable of creating innovative ideas, inspired communication - whether it be writing, speaking, teaching or relating to others. You could be a master at bringing practical form to ideas or the intangible. Creativity of course also takes the more physical forms of sculpting, drawing, music, singing, painting, sport or dancing.

It might take some courage to make the necessary changes; perhaps you need to re-skill or overcome obstacles that are currently standing in your way. What ever it takes, I hope that the information contained in this report will assist you in choosing a direction that will provide you with years of fulfilment and stimulation.

HOW TO USE THIS REPORT

The information presented in this report is designed to give you as many options as possible.

A satisfying and fulfilling career is not based purely on the actual work you do. You have different needs that have to be fulfilled, and many interests that need to be stimulated. Therefore it is important that you become familiar with all the information in this guide to gain the most benefit. Make sure to read all the information in blue as this will explain how each piece of information fits into the greater picture.

This report is offered as a guide only. Only you can make decisions for yourself based on your current situation, needs and circumstances. Maybe your choice of career or career/job change will be a simple one to implement but perhaps due to your personal circumstances you will need to make interim and long-term plans of how to reach your career goals. Please seek the advice of a professional Life Coach should you feel that you need more assistance with the planning and implementing of any major changes.

The report is divided into 2 separate sections:

PERSONALITY AND DISPOSITION

The first section covers your unique personality and disposition. Your personal needs have to be fulfilled by any work that you may do and your attributes valued in order for you to feel that you are making a contribution that makes use of your personal strengths and self expression and that gives you a sense of security, satisfaction and fulfilment on an inner level.

OVERVIEW OF CAREER, WORKING ENVIRONMENT AND EARNING CAPACITY

This broad overview will narrow down your areas of interest, look at what your daily work environment might be like and highlight the areas of your own earning potential. And to add a little balance to your life, see what you could do 'just for the love of it'.

Make special note of any recurring themes that appear throughout this report, they will be a very strong indicator of the direction you need to follow or of personal traits you need to be especially aware of.

Conflicting information will be contained in this report reflecting the complexity of human nature. For example, you might be described as helpful and selfless in one section and self involved and selfish in another, both of these will be relevant but they will each be triggered under different circumstances. Also, each might be best used to your advantage at different times.

PERSONALITY AND DISPOSITION

Manner of self expression, interests and ideals

Inner fulfilment needs

Approach to work and how others perceive you

- Supplementary Info

This first section looks at what interests and motivates you, in order to know immediately what work or job will suit your personality and needs best. While you might have suitable skills for a particular job or career area, if the work or work environment doesn't suit you, you will never be satisfied with what you are doing.

How others perceive you is also important to assess whether your skills and talents will be apparent or if you will need to make a special point of promoting them. Knowing all this will give you an advantage when making the important choice of what career to work within.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO BE ABLE TO DO AT WORK AND WHAT DO YOU NEED BACK?

You will really prosper and shine in any environment where you are helping, healing or serving others through your own creative self expression – in whatever form this takes. You are empathetic and very intuitive and able to reach others in a very powerful way once you loose your inhibitions and allow your creative self to find its voice, its touch, its canvas, its stage, its instrument, its words, its tools.

A stable environment will suit you best, not too much change or risk. You need the space to design, build and implement your practical, workable systems and for this you must have a certain amount of predictability.

You are most comfortable working behind the scenes or at night but you need tranquil and peaceful surroundings to operate at your best. It's important to work in an environment where your talent for reaching others is both recognised and valued.

You really enjoy life's little luxuries so earning well or good perks will probably suit you very well too.

Areas to be aware of:

- Your loyalty could be your downfall if it keeps you in a job that no long serves you.
- Make sure your sometimes stubborn nature is set to work for you rather than against you.
- Be sure to take regular 'time out' to recharge and replenish your self
- Need to work on your confidence in order to recognise and express your own unique potential and talent.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR EMOTIONAL COMFORT AND INNER SECURITY?

You need to work where you can see your way to rising to a position of prominence, reputation and renown and, very importantly, you need to be openly appreciated as well as get the accolades, recognition and achievement it brings you. You are extremely capable and will be distressed if your work, skills and talents go unacknowledged. You are likely to have many different jobs or even careers throughout your working life.

You really need intensity in your work. Work of an important, responsible or profound nature; work that goes delving beyond the surface; perhaps work of an undesirable, unmentionable, secretive, strategic or mysterious nature or even work that has an element of intrigue, crisis or danger.

You'd like the work you do to serve the public in some way.

Areas to be aware of:

- Nothing could stop you from achieving success if you could direct all that marvelous and powerful emotional intensity into achieving meaningful and worthwhile goals instead of attempting to control the uncontrollable. This would also alleviate a lot of the stress and insecurity you experience.

AND HOW DO OTHERS PERCEIVE YOU?

Because of your insatiable curiosity, you know a bit about a great many things and therefore you are able to talk a little to just about anyone on whatever topic interests them. This is really beneficial in interview/presentation/sales situations as people feel that you they have something in common with you and that you have a connection.

In addition to this you have a marvellous way with words, verbal or written. You are an absolute artist at pitching your words at exactly the right level, able to adapt your communication style to suit the situation. Just make sure you listen properly however, you need to be seen as responding to the right things.

Boredom is not for you and as a result you are forever out and about or scanning your environment for what's new, different or interesting. As a result you seem to know everything that is going on. This puts you in the perfect position to find out about job openings or new opportunities.

Because of your quick wit and quick tongue others see you as bright and very entertaining.

Areas to be aware of:

- Should you ever deviate from the truth, make very sure that you remember exactly what you said. This is what will trip you up and damage your reputation.
- You risk been viewed as superficial and flighty if you let your boredom show too much.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFO modifying how others perceive you or the approach you have to life

Your rather assertive style can sometimes land you in hot water when you fail to think before you act.

You will always be well liked with your happy-go-lucky attitude and generous nature. Anything and everything interesting will attract your attention.

You come across as a very caring person, and relate well to others, especially on an emotional level.

OVERVIEW OF CAREER, WORKING ENVIRONMENT AND EARNING POTENTIAL

Career and career field

- Fields connected to career
- Supplementary Info

Daily work environment

Earning potential

- Fields connected with earning

Just for the love of it

- Supplementary info

General information pertaining to overall career

WHAT CAREER AND WHAT ELEMENTS OF A CAREER WILL ATTRACT YOU?

In order to feel a true sense of pleasure and satisfaction in your career, it is essential that the work you do stimulates some very specific interests and fulfils some specific requirements. This is what is sometimes referred to as your life mission or purpose. Keep in mind that what you need to do in order to feel fulfilled might not always be suitable to support yourself or a family. If this is the case, the section on earning potential will point to alternate earning routes or sources.

It is important that your work fulfils your need for achievement. Your career is the most central aspect of your life. Advancement, promotion, being able to carefully plot your progress, achieving goals and being successful in the eyes of the world is what counts.

Structure and efficiency will attract you. You'll be happiest in a structured environment where protocol and order loom large. Where your disciplined, serious and responsible nature can work hard to achieve the goals you set for yourself.

You'll deal with bureaucracy with ease, know how to work the office politics to your benefit and generally excel within the 'system'.

Now read through 'Fields connected to career' and combine the most appealing from this career section with the specific areas listed. Be sure to take information from the section 'Personality and disposition' into account when considering these fields.

BEST FIELDS FOR YOUR CAREER

It is not intended that all of these fields will interest you, but one or two will. Or your interest might be piqued by something you hadn't thought of before.

Any of:

- The civil service
- Work and productivity
- Diet, health & sanitation – dieticians, nutritionists, health officers & officials, hygienists, cleaners, sanitation inspectors etc
- The healing industry

- Care of the sick / medical – doctors, nurses, orderlies, optician, optometrist, dental technician, dental hygienist
- Working with au pairs
- Emergency work
- Social service,
- Humane societies
- Police and military / navy forces
- Mechanical engineering
- Editing and proof-reading
- Restaurants - owners, workers, food preparation
- Domestic employment
- Textile workers including dressmaking, seamstress/tailor, dry cleaning
- Accounting, auditing, bookkeeping,
- Secretarial, clerks and assistants
- Computer programming, analysing, operating, data processing
- Draftsman, surveying
- Service industries – airline stewards/hostesses, waiters/waitresses, porters
- Technicians - service and repair
- Crafts – carpentry, cabinet making, metal craft
- Working with animals (small and domestic animals) - veterinarian, zoo worker, taxidermist, domestic animal training, farmed animals
- Work involving mathematics

Please note that while a particular field may be suggested, for example entertainment, this does not necessarily mean you should be an entertainer as such, but rather that you will enjoy working within that industry.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFO modifying your approach to the career arena

Watch for misunderstandings with your fellow workers, you can sometimes make assumptions before getting all the facts.

Luck and good fortune should always be on your side with regards to your career as opportunities just seem to present themselves to you. You could lack the motivation to act on them however. You are supportive and encouraging of others and usually get the support and cooperation you need with ease.

Feelings of 'not being good enough' can make you work harder and achieve more than others might.

A battle with foggy self image makes you very creative in any occupation to do with illusion, make believe or role playing. Watch out for addictive behaviour and habits.

Hardworking, motivated, assertive, enthusiastic and good at motivating others – everything you need for achieving your goals.

YOUR WORK ENVIRONMENT

Your working day will involve helping, healing or serving others. You need your working environment to be organised, efficient and clean. You'll be happiest in a secure job where you can work your way up the ladder.

MONEY AND HOW BEST TO EARN IT

These are the skills you have that will assist you in acquiring income.

Skilled at problem solving, connecting with people, processing data and information, learning, writing, reporting, lecturing, persuading or training, you will communicate in some way for a living.

A skilled 'multitasker' you are able to juggle many projects or jobs. On the other hand, you could be particularly well coordinated physically and use your dexterity to earn an income. Dexterity and communications combined – sign language?

Excellent at networking, you usually know what is going on and who to talk to, to get what you need. You could get income from different sources or chop and change as you see opportunities.

The fields listed below are specific areas where you could earn. Remember to take all the information from this report into account when considering these fields.

BEST FIELDS FOR EARNING

It is not intended that all of these fields will interest you, but one or two will. Or your interest might be piqued by something you hadn't thought of before.

Any of:

- Work to do with large institutions / government work
- Charities, welfare and relief organisations
- Homes for the destitute, elderly
- Healing humanity
- Hospitals, clinics, asylums, morgues
- Anything connected with detention, correction and imprisonment
- Work to do with drugs, alcohol and addiction
- Photography, illusion
- Music, poetry, ghost writing
- Oceanography, diving
- Night work
- Behind-the-scenes work, research
- Alcohol workers and dealers
- Confidential positions, secret service, foreign/undercover agents, private investigators
- Work dealing with criminals
- Antiques dealers, second hand goods dealers, scrap dealers
- Convents, monasteries

- Animals (large and/ fierce) – veterinarian, game wardens, zoo workers
- Spiritual work
- Occult religions, psychics, paranormal, mystical
- Oil wells and workers
- Shoe manufacture and workers
- Any work to do with feet

Please note that while a particular field may be suggested, for example entertainment, this does not necessarily mean you should be an entertainer as such, but rather that you will enjoy working within that industry.

'JUST FOR THE LOVE OF IT'

To find what it is that brings you absolute delight and what you thoroughly enjoy doing, combine any of the elements in the following two descriptions. The results should not come as a surprise to you but should induce you to ensure that you include more of those activities in your life to increase your overall balance and enjoyment of life. And if you are lucky, it could be an area where you could earn an income doing it.

Escapism, romance, creativity, art, music, poetry, spirituality, the occult, compassion, the sea, fishing, healing, helping others, sanctuaries, large animals.

combined with any of:

- Humanitarianism – volunteer work, benefactors, philanthropists, adoptions
- Idealistic / enlightening social movements, associations, organisations and clubs
- Science, inventions, future trends, modern computer technology
- Group work, group creativity
- Sociology, anthropology
- Space, space exploration, planetariums
- Aquariums
- Aviation, pilots, airline staff
- Politics, legislation
- Electricity, electricians, lightning specialists
- Counsellor, advisor, consultant, coach, mentor
- Work involving the elderly
- New age
- Astrology
- Work involving mathematics

It is not intended that all of these fields will interest you, but one or two will. Or your interest might be piqued by something you hadn't thought of before.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFO

Nothing to note.

GENERAL INFORMATION pertaining to your career

Fiercely independent, resourceful and filled with inventive and inspirational ideas, you are probably interested in everything and anything that is new, unusual, alternative, esoteric, technological, scientific, metaphysical or ground breaking, bringing all sorts of new ideas into your everyday working life.

Your outward expression and behaviour does little to attract what you need for stimulation and satisfaction on an inner level. This could leave you feeling dissatisfied and restless, always searching for 'something' to fill the void.

You will experience enormous transformation throughout your life, but the process is not likely to be easy. The merciless delving into your own subconscious to discover the source of problems or issues gives you great skill in research, detection or work of a psychological nature. You will drive yourself and others around you relentlessly and can come across rather forcefully even when you don't mean to be.

You are especially articulate with what you are feeling and you will talk your way into getting anything you've got your heart set on.

Level headed and not easily upset, you are a natural peace-keeper and like to have balance and harmony around you, avoiding conflict as far as possible. You work especially well with women. Opportunities will arise for you to develop your innate artistic talent. Whether you take advantage of them or not is another matter.

You always seem to be fighting for the freedom and independence to do things in your own way and in your own time and to be yourself. You need to realise that you are already there. You are highly creative, imaginative and original with ideas and solutions.

Bold and daring - great for leadership. Make sure you have a sporting activity as an outlet for all that energy.

Because of a deep sense of insecurity, you find it hard to trust and because you need to feel in control at all times you can indulge in some very manipulative, controlling and demanding behaviour. You need to work on your insecurity in order to have more successful interaction with others.

Not one to rush decisions, you think everything through very carefully but you do tend to spend a great deal of time worrying. A tendency to get trapped in 'thinking ruts' can blind you to alternative information and solutions on which to base your opinions and make your decisions.

You are not always able to clearly say what's on your mind and misunderstandings can be created.

Highly persuasive, you have ability to change perceptions through your communications, teaching or perhaps advertising. You have a flair for research, analysis and investigation and probably a good understanding of the motivations of those around you because of it.

A need for personal connection with others makes you encourage more conventional relationships, when the unconventional (while not easy) would stimulate you more. A constant pull between the need for warmth and connection vs. freedom and individuality makes you appear to blow hot and cold towards people.

You have a deep desire to transform, renew, revive or recycle. You have a compelling personality and a deep empathy for others. Very creative.

You tend to idealise your co-workers feeling very let down if they don't live up to your unrealistic expectations.

You find it hard to accept love and warmth from others so tend to shy away from showing emotion or being in situations where warmth or appreciation is shown towards you. You won't be comfortable in positions requiring too much closeness with colleagues.

You have loads of energy but can sometimes push too hard and risk too much in order to achieve.

You have the talent for spotting successful avenues for you to follow.

You have artistic or musical ability that could be developed.

You have the capacity to take idealistic notions and imaginative ideas and turn them into concrete reality. Of course you also have the ability to take a perfectly sensible idea and make it totally incomprehensible.

Very ambitious and needing to prove yourself, you will work long and hard to achieve success. You shine in emergency situations.

The need to settle down, to follow one direction or take one course of action, versus the desire for freedom, change and individuality causes constant tension and restlessness within you. But you also have the capacity to develop a working style that suits your personality.

I wish you well on your path.